To Whom it May Concern,

I've worked with Allan Austin and his team over the last 10 years and could be considered his first official coaching student. Over these many years I've been fortunate enough to work, travel and study with this remarkable mentor and futurist. I've grown tremendously as an individual through our sessions and have prospered financially and socially implementing many of his techniques and best practices. My recommendation to all who read this testimonial is to take 15 minutes and speak with Allan and find how you and his team can work together to move your business to the next level.

Sincerely,

Bryan Lipscomb
